Hi, I'm Kristin!

I empower women to own their stories & amplify their voices.

Kristin Quiroz Bayona is a captivating speaker, podcast host, author and founder of Podcast & Amplify whose empathetic style empowers women to own their story, honor their authentic voice, and become more visible.

With over 20 years of experience in communications, Kristin brings a depth of knowledge and relatable perspective that simplifies podcasting and storytelling for entrepreneurs.

In her motivating presentations, Kristin engages audiences by infusing her story and lessons learned from her journey from wall flower to podcast host to speaking on stages to inspire entrepreneurs, professionals, and teams to use the power of their voice to be heard and create change.

A dynamic communicator, Kristin's experience includes working with large tech companies, global design firms, and entrepreneurs across various industries to tell brand stories, weaving in her passion for connection, collaboration, and creativity.

Kristin currently serves as Founder and CEO of Podcast & Amplify, a podcast coaching business on a mission to empower women to gain the confidence & tools to amplify their voice and mission through podcasting.

Kristin is available to speak at conferences, facilitate workshops, and be a guest on podcasts for female founders and business women.
